The MacArthur Bible Commentary by John MacArthur

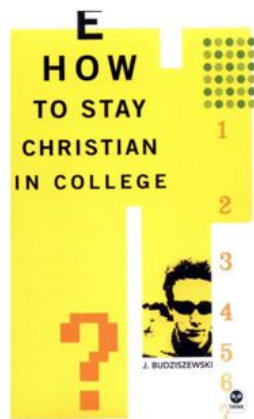

Bringing the same expositional skill and down-to-earth style to this one-volume commentary as he has to his best-selling multivolume New Testament set, John MacArthur offers a non-technical passage-by-passage examination of the whole Bible.

Includes:

- ☒ A general introduction to each major division of the Bible
- ☒ A short introduction covering author, date, time, and setting for each book of the Bible
- ☒ Each introduction also includes discussion of God's character, how Christ is seen, key doctrines, key words, key people, and key Scripture passages that represent the "theme core" of each book of the Bible
- ☒ A harmony of the historical books of 1 and 2 Samuel, 1 and 2 Kings, and 1 and 2 Chronicles
- ☒ A harmony of the Gospels
- ☒ Articles providing an overview of theology, the ministry of Jesus, the ministry of the apostles, and the progress of revelation
- ☒ Cross-references to The MacArthur Bible Handbook as an alternate source for more in-depth treatment

CHARLOTTETOWN BIBLE CHAPEL

NOVEMBER 2012

Remember Me Artist: Mark Schultz

Remember Me
In a Bible cracked and faded by the years
Remember Me
In a sanctuary filled with silent prayer

And age to age and heart to heart
Bound by grace and peace
Child of wonder, child of God
I've remembered you, remember Me

Remember Me
When the colour of a sunset fills the sky
Remember Me
When you pray and tears of joy fall from your eyes

And age to age and heart to heart
Bound by grace and peace
Child of wonder, child of God
I've remembered you, remember Me

Remember Me
When the children leave their Sunday school with smiles
Remember Me
When they're old enough to teach, old enough to preach
Old enough to leave

And age to age and heart to heart
Bound by grace and peace
Child of wonder, child of God
I've remembered you, remember Me

Age to age and heart to heart
Child of wonder, child of God
Remember Me
Age to age and heart to heart
Child of wonder, child of God

Psychology Without Sin by Ernie Baker

(from Answers Magazine July-September 2012 issue)

Who wouldn't like to help others with their psychological problems? Finding a cure, however, demands that we understand two things: the nature of the disease and true mental health. Both are found in Genesis.

Imagine a street named Counseling Street where you can visit therapy shop after therapy shop. In each store you present your struggles with chronic depression and anxiety and listen to the solutions. But it gets confusing—almost every shop offers different solutions. One therapist diagnoses low self-esteem and says you need to feel better about yourself. Another explains that your brain chemicals are out of balance and the wiring needs help to fire properly. Yet another says that you have all the symptoms of repressed memories.

Like a doctor, a therapist bases diagnosis and treatment on what he or she believes is the source of the problem. But secular psychologists do not agree on the problem, so their treatments vary dramatically. In fact no standard psychology or therapy exists. There are hundreds of psychologies and therapies! Do we have any hope of finding the right treatment?

Inaccurate Reference Books

The Bible reveals the root of all human problems: sin's effects on the soul. Sadly, though, God's Word is not among the references in the therapy shops. The secular psychologies do not allow for an inherent sin nature, so it is hard to imagine how they could stumble upon the right treatment. The famous psychologist Carl Rogers represents many before and after him. "I am very well aware of the incredible amount of destructive, cruel, malevolent behavior in today's world—from the threats of war to the senseless violence in the streets—I do not find that this evil is inherent in human nature."

Rogers continues, "It is cultural influences which are the major factor in our evil behaviors. . . . I see members of the human species . . . as essentially constructive in their fundamental nature but damaged by their experience."¹ His view of mankind was his starting point for developing a system to help (a therapeutic approach).

A Step to a Cure: Identifying a Healthy Human

In our culture of endless therapies, God's Word diagnoses the ultimate root of human problems. Genesis 1 through 3 emphasizes the problem of sin against our Creator. In fact, any truly biblical approach to human problems must be built upon these foundational chapters. Unlike the shifting theories of the world, these chapters speak absolute truth about mankind's need.

Genesis 1:26–27 is particularly important to counseling since it tells us that we are image bearers and not merely advanced animals. As God's image bearers, we were made to glorify the majestic God of the universe—to live as worshippers—and our basic need is to return to this purpose.

Romans 11:36 gives wonderful guidance on what it means to live as a restored worshipper. Paul breaks it down into three parts: "For of [from] Him and through Him and to Him are all things, to whom be glory forever. Amen." We were made to view all things as from Him (He's the source of our lives). We were made to view all things as if they are through Him (He's the sustainer of our lives). And we are made to view all things as if they are to Him (He's the specific purpose of our lives). If God is the source, the sustainer, and the goal, He is everything we need! Whether paying bills or loving a spouse, we should do all things as if they were from, through, and to Him. What a wonderful way to live, and God gets the glory!

The Worldwide Epidemic

But something radical disrupted this beautiful purpose for our existence. Adam and Eve, designed to worship (love, trust, honor, and obey) the Creator, "worshipped and served the creature" instead (Romans 1:25). This is the ultimate origin of personal problems. Not surprisingly, counseling issues arose immediately after the Fall—hiding, fear, guilt, and blame shifting entered human experience. Sin immediately marred the marriage relationship. Most unfortunately, though, we were separated from the God who designed us to be in a close relationship with Him.

The holy prescription of Romans 11:36 comes appropriately at the end of eleven chapters describing God's redemptive plan to solve our sinful condition. God embedded within the gospel the power to restore my broken relationship with Him and others. Christ has the power to liberate me from the "worship disorders" of my life so I can again live to glorify Him.

Rogers, like many before and after him, blamed our problems on our experiences. We cannot adopt that view without turning everyone into a victim who does not have to take responsibility for his or her actions. The Bible, in contrast, places the responsibility on us for how we respond to our circumstances, while still remaining merciful to sinners and sensitive to those sinned against. A memorable illustration is a tea bag in hot water. Our experiences are like the hot water, and the tea bag is our heart with its sin nature. The hot water of life draws out what is already in my heart. Of course, the boiling water still hurts!

As we seek answers for life's problems, we rob God of His glory when we ignore His prescription and turn to other diagnoses and treatments.

God made the cause of our problem clear in Genesis 1–3, and He has prescribed the only cure, Jesus Christ. The details of applying God's answer to each person's problem may be complex and varied, but the reference book and its basic prescriptions are the same for everyone.

Dr. Ernie Baker is a certified biblical counselor with the National Association of Nouthetic Counselors and a Council Board member of the Biblical Counseling Coalition. He has 25 years' experience as a pastor and is on the faculty at The Master's College, where he teaches a wide range of biblical counseling courses.

Trinidad My Home - My People Life and Service of Edith Johnson

As told to Max Inglis

Available from GOSPEL FOLIO PRESS & Amazon.com (Rachel Vandenberg also has a copy).

“This book will strengthen your faith in our Great God and move you to tears at almost every chapter, because of the amazing things that God did through Edith Johnson’s life. A bold testament to God’s great power through his faithful servant.”--Rachel Vandenberg

And this is what other people said about it:

“Edith Johnson’s Trinidad, My Home, My People is a wake up call to those who think faith is fiction and a prayer-answering God is out to lunch. Those who feel they have a future in cross-cultural ministry would do well to read each chapter prayerfully.”

Here is just one of the many amazing stories from the book:

Edith needs a car and asks God to provide one...but she doesn't tell anyone she needs one, she just prays. Then someone asks her if she needs a car and she asks "why do you ask?" and the couple told her they both felt the Lord tell them individually to buy Edith a car. So Edith thanked them and said yes I do need a car. So that couple supplied her with the money to buy a new car. But that is only a small part of the story. The coolest part of the story is this.... I will quote from the book....

Almost 15 years later, I was again in the Esau’s [the couple that gave her the $ for the car] home for Sunday lunch. Only now the home had been remodelled and was simply beautiful. John asked this question, “Edith, would you like to know the other side of the story about that first car we bought for you?” I assured him I would and carefully listened while John told me an amazing story.

“As you know, God had laid it on Ann’s and my heart that if you needed a car we were to buy it. At the time, our house was badly in need of repair. As we prayed about it, I decided I would place the responsibility of the decision on Ann as she is a lady who dearly loves her home. As we chatted together, her response was, ‘John, if God wants us to buy that car there is no decision to be made. We will buy the car.’

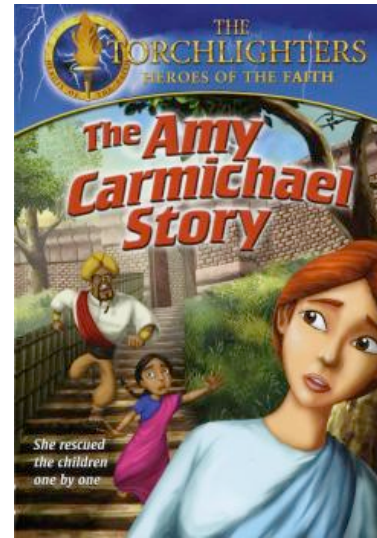

“We mortgaged the gas station and as time went on, we repaid the loan. The day finally came when I told Ann, ‘We can take out another mortgage and repair the house.’ When the man came to do the work, he went up into the attic and came down shaking his head. ‘John, I am simply amazed that the roof of this house did not collapse this past winter under the pressure of all that snow. It seems everything is rotted out up there.’ My response was simply, ‘I know Who held it up.’”

My heart [Edith speaking] was deeply moved as I leaned how God was teaching me His awesome ways, building up my faith. When

I looked at the couple He had used and the sacrifices they had made, I struggled to hold back the tears.”
